Dr. Subhash Sharma welcomed all the members, apprised them of Institute's performance and gave a broad overview of the direction in which the Institute is progressing. He sought the advice of the members in creating a strategic road map for the next 5 years for IBA.

1	GC members were briefed by the Founder CEO and Chairman, IBA about all the activities of the school during the review period AY 2022-23.
2	The intake of students was discussed. The governing council was apprised that the number of students seeking admissions for PGDM Batch of 2022-24 was slightly less than that of the last year.
3	The reason for the slightly lesser number of admissions was discussed, and the governing council observed that the lower number in the current batch is possibly due to non-availability of NBA Accreditation & AIU. However, the members appreciated the school for ensuring that despite lower number of student admissions, the overall quality of students' admitted has remained the same as in the previous batches.
4	The Governing Council discussed the need for IBA to shift from a single programme institute to a multi-disciplinary autonomous institute. The GC suggested IBA to start planning for offering multi-disciplinary courses & also start exploring possibilities of networking with other institutions.
5	Citing UGC's allowing universities & colleges to offer up to 40% of the syllabus of the programme through SWAYAM platform, the GC has asked IBA to incorporate such additional courses from AY 2024-25.

6	The GC also felt the need to introduce social & non-profit components into the curriculum of IBA for increased emphasis on the 'Sensitivity towards society' components of IBA's mission statement. GC also appreciated IBA for the community work through the HOPE Committee that the students are doing.
7	The council appreciated the increase in the number of publications in quality international journals, and asked the school to continue its focus on publishing in ABDC, SCOPUS, and UGC-CARE journals. The council suggested that IBA should look at recruiting more researched focused faculty members.
8	GC also suggested that IBA should have a research centre with policy that encourages faculty student collaborative research. To encourage students, the research centre should sponsor all such research.
9	Chairman – GC suggested the name as Arihant Management Research Centre (AMRC) which was unanimously accepted by all the members. The council also recommended to have the initial corpus of Rs. Five lacs for research funding for AY 2023-24.
10	GC was also highly appreciative of the support given by the school on faculty research through the incentive (TRACE) policy implemented.
11	The GC also took note of the need for IBA to strengthen executive education. The council asked the chairman to recruit a senior level executive to develop the executive education of the institute. The council further expressed its desire to see proper execution plan along with timelines to be placed before it in the next meeting.
12	The members discussed the budgetary allocations for the Academic Year 2023-24. The council was apprised of the infrastructural maintenance work undertaken during the review period. Dr. Manish Jain also requested the council's permission to approve the expenditure on new infrastructural development for Bachelor's degree block worth Rs. Five crores.
13	The council appreciated the efforts made by the school in achieving its previous meeting's suggestion of inviting eminent professionals from government to join the governing council of IBA.
14	The council approved and welcomed the induction of Ambassador Dr. Deepak Vohra to the governing council of IBA and Shri Prem Prakash & Dr. Shiv Tripathi to the academic council of IBA. The council also discussed the need to include more eminent professionals to join and strengthen the council of IBA.
15	The council expressed satisfaction with the placement process. The council congratulated the corporate relations team for placing two students at the highest pay package of 22.26 LPA and 17.83 LPA. The council also congratulated the corporate relations team for achieving good results in the summer placements with the highest stipend of 25k p.m.
16	The council also appreciated the alumni for their continued engagement with their Alma Mater through their contributions in placements, curriculum enrichment, CIP Viva process, and the specially curated programs - Reflections, and Hangout.
17	The council expressed that the team should have presented the facts & figures in a better way to ensure NBA reaccreditation & advised to apply for reaccreditation again. The council also suggested to work towards getting another accreditation to ensure continued improvement in all spheres of functions of institute.

Dear Dr. Rao,

Sub: Invitation to accept the position of Ombudsman - IBA Bangalore

Indus Business Academy is an AICTE, Ministry of Education (Govt. of India) approved Institution. As per the law, every institute has to appoint an ombudsman.

We humbly request you to accept the position of Ombudsman at IBA for the period of three years (one term).

As you are aware that the purpose of this Ombudsman is to handle the grievance of the students, Staff and Faculty, if committee of an Institute is not able to resolve the issue in eyes of a complainant.

This will help us in creating an environment at IBA campus where students and employee can escalate unresolved grievance that in their opinion are not handled or addressed properly.

Thanking you,

- Placement Facilities:

Advanced Placement and Training Programme

Getting a job in today's highly competitive market is a baffling experience, and IBA's outstanding career resources are an important part of the management learning provided. At IBA placements is not a seasonal task but instead a process that is initiated right from the day when students join for the course by means of Advanced Placement & Training Programme (APTP). An exclusive Institute Industry Interface (I3) Committee has been developed to serve this purpose which comprises of select students along with the Placement Officers. The APTP includes:

- Interfacing
The I3 Committee serves as an interface between students and business leaders by organizing a wide range of events like Workshops, Seminars and Guest Lectures. In such events the students can meet and talk with experts from various fields like Banking, Consulting, Technology, Investment management and other fields.
- Mentoring & Career Counselling
For the two years of academic rigours every student is assigned a Mentor faculty. Ideally, every faculty at IBA mentors 10-12 students of every batch for projects, presentations, internships, career counselling etc. Offering personal support systems, they work directly with the students keeping their interests and goals in mind.
- Grooming
In its final leg, the programme aims at focused preparation for Aptitude Tests, mock Group Discussions and Mock Interviews to enable students gain confidence, diminish nervousness, hone their responses and think on their feet. It also aims at grooming them in least thought of but significant areas like Corporate & E-mail etiquette.

Final Placements

IBA follows a multi-pronged strategy offering multiple avenues for placements of its students. At IBA, placement is an activity, which commences from the very first day. On our part, an established placement office with a dedicated team of placement officers constantly promote our students among premier organizations such as transnational companies, management consulting companies, software firms, banks, merchant bankers and so on.

In this regard, our MDP and consulting division, through which we provide education and management consulting to companies; also helps us in building awareness about our PGDM course among our client organizations and corporate executives.

Regular guest lectures on specific functional topic areas by industry leaders whilst enhancing the learning process also offer an opportunity for interaction between students and key decision makers in organizations leading to possible future placement.

Placement Process

- Students get the intimation about placement opportunities from the institute's I3 committee (Industry Institute Interface) via intranet or internet emails.
- Interested students convey their choice either through mail or prescribed process within the specified time limit.
- The students are communicated about the recruitment process dates once the Placement team gets a communication from the organization.

The entire placement Process is mostly conducted in the campus but in some cases students visit the recruiter's premises for the process. The recruitment process generally includes Pre placement talk followed by process like Aptitude test, Group Discussion, Personal Interview depending on respective company policy & selection criteria. While students can appear for multiple interviews, they are bound to accept the first offer made to them. Recruited students can join their employers after their final examinations which are concluded in the month of March or April as per the Academic Calendar.

- Internal Continuous Evaluation System in place:

Internal Continuous Evaluation at IBA

At IBA, continuous evaluation is an integral part of assessing the course learning outcomes. Various activities conducted during the class are considered for assessment of learning by the students. Some of important continuous evaluation activities are listed below.

- Solving Business Cases – Business cases related to the best practices and failure of business firms are taken for discussions in the class. Students are given the case in advance so that they can come prepared to the class for a discussion. Short cases are administered in the class. Students have to do the situation analysis and apply the concepts they have learnt with respect to the course. The problems or issues related to the cases are identified in the class, root causes for the issues identified and the possible solutions or applicable concepts are drawn from the cases. The course instructor moderates the discussions on the case.
- Individual and Group Presentations – Each member in all groups gets an opportunity to present and discuss in the class on numerous topics during the course. They get time to prepare on the given topic. The group members are assessed on the parameters given in advance to students through well-defined rubrics.
- Class Tests (include written and oral tests, quizzes, Moodle based tests etc.)
- Written Assignments (students are given an assignment to work on – could be a home work or working in the class) - To assess students' ability to explore and construct the topics. It gives them equal space to think and to explore and to express.
- Projects – Field projects, in-house projects (Individual and Group), Workshops – This is a very effective method of imparting subject knowledge, wherein the students learn and unlearn in a practical way by experiencing themselves. Field Projects are given as part of few subjects Sales and Distribution Management, Advance Retail Management, Retail Operations Management, Consumer Behaviour and Market Research, Business Research Methods, etc. Students are taught to conduct a constructive research through these courses. Students learn to track competitors' activities, firms' response to competition with regard to Sales and Marketing operations. Students are given an opportunity to visit market place to understand and learn how businesses are run and the challenges associated with it. In Finance courses, students are asked to analyse the annual reports of business firms, do the cash flow analysis, prepare budgets, carry on the equity research and analysis, etc. Similarly, different types of projects are administered in different courses to enable practical learning of students.
Workshops are conducted as part of the courses to foster in house learning in an applied way. The students are subjected to different practical situations wherein they get a real time learning. Such workshops are generally carried out in series of sessions.
- Simulation/Role Plays – Students are given a situation to which they enact and react. This exercise makes them recall the topic discussed and puts their decision making skills to test.
- Viva Voce – Students are called one on one basis and a viva on the subject is conducted. This is to understand their extent of learning and to extend a personalized attention for their improvement.

- Group Discussions - Students are called on random basis to make presentations. Or they would be thrown topics to discuss on. This exercise challenges students to be always ready besides giving them an equal opportunity to contribute to the class learning.
- Panel Discussions – Students are asked to volunteer to make panels which would discuss on the given topics (this is to test students’ initiating abilities and value addition to the class).
- Article Analysis – An article on a particular topic is administered and students are asked to draw facts and lessons out of it. The brainstorming session is initiated by the students on the topic and the course instructor moderates the session.
- Mid-term examination – Written exam conducted midway into each trimester.
- End-term Examination – Written exam conducted after the completion of the trimester.

Each assessment tool strives to achieve the desired Learning Outcomes.

20. Best Practices

Vision and Mission Activities

Students are asked to write the Vision and Mission statements of their lives as part of the special Induction Programme when they join the institute. This catches them by surprise as many students wouldn't have planned anything in their lives. Students get to learn how to dream, how to plan their lives and more importantly how to live with them meaningfully. This activity puts students into a right frame of mind before they begin the two years journey of learning.

Mentoring

IBA follows the unique practice of guiding & mentoring students till they graduate. Individual attention is given to all students in the unique mentoring program at IBA. Each student is assigned to a Faculty mentor right at the beginning of the program and is given academic support throughout the two years of PGDM program at IBA. This allows them to get all their academic problems addressed. The personalized attention helps students gain confidence. The Mentoring program at IBA also helps in the identification of brighter students who assist other students as part of co-learning. Mentoring gets a special focus with 3-hours exclusive schedule drawn every week.

Candle Light Experiment

This is a part of a course called Management Perspectives. This is a standalone course which is open to all. This course lets students know about Indian Management philosophy and allows them to draw comparison between Indian and Western management practices.

Students are encouraged to think creatively and big through the Candle Light Experiment. Students light the candles and they will have to think and write on the light emanating from the candle. It is observed that they come up with very enlightening ideas which are very creative and noble. They are given an opportunity to present their ideas. This exercise lets them identify their hidden talents and boosts their confidence to learn more.

Both of the above mentioned activities are driven by our Chief Mentor & Senior Professor, Dr. Subhash Sharma who is known for his management philosophies and ideas.

Kalakshetra

Throughout their academic life, students have been taught to compete with others. Students do not really learn how to work in groups, towards a predefined objective. This, however, is an essential skill for success in corporate life. In Kalakshetra:

- Students of 1st year are grouped randomly into teams of 12-14 each with an objective of performing a task. The task varies every year, from a theme based set of short-duration plays or dance performance to even running a short-term business like a food stall or even cultivation of certain vegetables as well as their sale.
- While in case of performances students get judged as a team by the seniors, the alumni and the members of faculty & staff, in case of businesses a comparative assessment of the bottom line or revenue/profits is the judgment criteria for teams.

Kalakshetra basically is a platform for students to learn

- Project management basics like Work Breakdown Structure, Gantt chart, MS Project, Project planning, Stakeholder analysis, Project charter, Project status reporting, etc.
- Team management while doing a cultural activity/short-term business.
- Concept of team formation.
- Each other's strengths and use these qualities with creativity to produce a play.
- Competing as well as coordinating with other teams for common infrastructure requirements as well as budget management.
- Importance of timing and support systems as enacting a play or common business infrastructure requires immense back-end coordination and mutual cooperation.
- Being confident and face their fears of failure.
- That teamwork can move mountains and create something awe-inspiring.

Students remember the lessons of Kalakshetra more than any theoretical class on Project Management.

IBA is possibly the only Institute which uses 'plays' to teach project management and team building as part of management skills.

HOPE Committee (a CSR Initiative) at IBA

Education is not just about self-development & jobs, but about giving back to society. Students of IBA, Bangalore has formed a committee called as HOPE (Higher Order Purpose of Existence). The members of this committee pledge to spend their time with either under privileged kids in Orphanages or elders in Old age homes, along with their PGDM Program.
